GROWING.

Washington, Aug. 14.—The building improvements at the national capital have been so great of recent years that the district commissioners are preparing a plan to extend the streets of the city into the country, and to lay out streets running east and west parallel to the city streets. The proposed improvement will, it is estimated, cost $1,000,000, one-half of which will be paid by property owners.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Cleveland, Aug. 14.—The old crucible steel works of the Cleveland Steel Company in this city were leased three weeks ago to the Prospect Rolling Mill Company. The works were to be used for operations yesterday morning and the fires in the heating furnaces has been lighted. At 6 o'clock the sparks from the furnaces ignited the frame walls of the building and in an hour the mill was a smoking ruin. The loss is $30,000; insurance $10,000.

WITH PRIDE AND PLEASURE.

New York, Aug. 14.—Ex-Senator Joseph E. McDonald, of Indiana, has written to Col. Bryce saying that he accepts "with pride and pleasure" his appointment as a member of the advisory committee of the national Democratic committee. His duties as an advisory committee-man will be in addition to those he will discharge as member of the Democratic executive committee of Indiana. The advisory committee, following the precedent set in 1884, consists of prominent Democrats in various parts of the country selected by the national committee to aid them in their labors.

TRAIN WRECKERS.

Waco, Tex., Aug. 14.—Pieces of timber were fastened to the track of the Texas Central Railroad yesterday morning and the night express was derailed, the locomotive demolished and several cars badly damaged.

Engineer J. R. Moneys was killed outright, his fireman terribly scalded and a half dozen passengers injured. A sheriff's posse is scouring the country for the persons who placed the timber on the track and the railroad company offers $1,000 reward each for their capture.

SLAPPED HIS WIFE.

New York, Aug. 14.—There is trouble in the Central and West Baptist churches of Tottenham, R. I., over the alleged misconduct of the pastor, Rev. Thomas B. Butts. It is said that he is jealous of his wife and accuses her of intimacy with several well known citizens. She is an attractive looking woman with a fine soprano voice and is a general favorite and highly spoken of. While walking along the street to her home last Friday, she met, almost opposite her own door, Frederick Reichenhorn, a member of the church, and stopped to chat with him. Her husband, looking out of a window, saw them. He ran out of the house and across the street, and catching his wife by the arm exclaimed:

"Now, I have caught you! This time I have got you where I want you!" He then hurried her across the street into the house, and when he got her there it is alleged he struck her across the mouth with such force that her teeth cut through her lower lip. She is now under the care of Dr. Washington. To members of the congregation who remonstrated with him he is said to have replied that he had a perfect right to slap his wife. Now, it is said, he takes the children with him and locks up Mrs. Butts's clothes, so that she cannot leave during his absence. The Central Baptist church asked him for his resignation, which was tendered. He is to preach his farewell sermon next Sunday.

COMPANY'S REVENGE.

Pittsburg, Aug. 14.—For some time past the Law and Order Society of Pennsylvania, a small town of 200 people, has been making upon the people of the town the following Sunday train on the Meadville & Linsville Railroad. The employees of the line have been arrested and fined several times, and the company has decided to move its station two miles out of the town. Engineers are now at work surveying a new route, and the company declares that it will run its line on the other side of the lake, leaving Evansburg out in the cold rather than submit to a continuance of the annoyance.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM.

New York, Aug. 14.—James G. Blaine started on his home-ward trip at 11 o'clock, on the New York, New Haven & Harlem railroad, yesterday morning. A large crowd congregated on the sidewalk opposite to the entrance to the depot, and when Blaine stepped from his carriage a loud shout went out. The passage was made through a mass of humanity, and uncovering his head Blaine smilingly walked into the depot yard. During the few minutes stay in the depot, he held an informal reception, and was loudly cheered as the train pulled out of the depot. During the trip to Boston Blaine will deliver short addresses at various way stations. His platform will be the rear of an observatory car in which he and his party ride.

Bridgeport, Conn., Aug. 14.—When the Blaine train ran into Stamford it was greeted with cheers from 1,000 persons who were waiting. Blaine said: "I thank this large assembly, quite beyond the power of my expression, for the compliment they pay me as I journey homeward. In the brief moment of train stopping I have only time to add to my thanks an acknowledgment and that is, if Connecticut shall retain her great prosperity, if she shall retain her forward position among the industrial and prosperous communities of the United States, she must be up and doing. She must see to it that no harm will come to the republic or her by the weight of republican citizenship. It is not improbable, in the political contest now upon us, that the post of honor and responsibility shall rest upon Connecticut. It is not improbable that the presidential election of 1888 may be settled on the vote of your state. My request is, that each and every one shall regard the task of carrying Connecticut for Harrison and Morton as imposed upon him or her. Believing you are awake to your duty, I shall proceed to Maine and ask her republicans to show Connecticut the path in which she should walk." [A plause.]

New Haven, Aug. 14.—At Bridgeport there was an assembly larger and even more enthusiastic than at Stamford. It was marked by the same features. Blaine made a brief speech. Hartford, Conn., Aug. 14.—Half the population of New Haven seemed to have abandoned all other business to receive Blaine. Mayor Daly headed the delegation of the republican town committee who came to receive him. Blaine was escorted to the platform outside the depot, where the large assemblage cheered while waiting for a speech. Blaine said: "Since I last had the pleasure of passing through your beautiful city, I have seen much of countries beyond the sea, but I am sure I have nowhere seen any people associated with any form of government constituting so truly a model commonwealth as the state of Connecticut. [Applause.] In aims which her people have cherished, in ends which they have accomplished, in great motives which have inspired them, I think you stand as a model government. Added to that, gentlemen, you have enjoyed for the last quarter of a century great prosperity, and you have accumulated in an extraordinary degree all the means which contribute to human welfare and human progress. The industrial system under which all this has been accomplished is now threatened, and the people of Connecticut are to be asked, in the pending election, whether they desire this commonwealth to be launched on new experiments of free trade, (cries of "no"), or whether they desire to adhere to the old methods, to the many old landmarks which have proved safe. This will be submitted to the people of Connecticut and on their response will be, probably, determined the fate of the question. I do not doubt, I cannot doubt the verdict that will be given, at the hands of your people. It only remains for me to return to you my sincere thanks for whatever of personal compliment you pay me by this large assemblage. But all personal compliments which I might take to myself are subordinate in every respect to the great end of rallying the people of Connecticut to the support of Harrison and Morton, (prolonged cheers) who represent in their political record, in their personal history, all the great issues of the national campaign. (Loud applause.)

Irene Worrell at Opera House last night.
